PREFACE.

In submitting to the legal profession, court, state, county and city officials a publication differing in its objects, method and scope from anything heretofore published, the author feels a word of explanation is necessary.

After twelve years spent in the legal advertising department of the Court Index, the official journal of the courts of Hamilton County, Ohio, and during that period calling upon the lawyers of the city of Cincinnati daily for the purpose of trying to interest them sufficiently by argument to place their publications in the Index; and, being somewhat successful in this respect, I was obliged to write fully two-thirds of all the advertisements myself. This was due to the fact that most of the lawyers were invariably busy when I called upon them and could not take the time to write the advertisement.

Another reason given by some of the lawyers was that I ought to be able to write the same in less space than they could, because I was making a special business of the same, and that I could write the advertisement in less time than it would take them to find the law prescribing how, and what the advertisement should contain.

Acting upon the suggestion of the last proposition, I ventured upon the task of writing the following work, with a desire to render the labor of the lawyer and official less tedious.

This is not intended to be a text book, but simply one to lighten the labors and to obviate the loss of time of the busy lawyer, state, county, and city official.

To make the work complete I have endeavored to present a form for every legal advertisement prescribed by the Statutes of the State of Ohio, which advertisement requirements are in effect the same in every state of the Union. Of course, every specific advertisement that may at times be required can not be given, but it is believed that any legal advertisement may be written by a slight modification of the forms given in this work.

The majority of the advertisements herein presented have been approved by the courts, and a great number of them have been obtained by examining the advertisements actually drawn by attorneys of standing at the Ohio bar.

The importance of the subject of legal advertising will not be questioned, and the peculiar adaptability of the arrangement of this work is for the purpose of constructing a work applicable alike, and equally valuable, in all the states of the Union, and in all the English-speaking countries of the world.

The object of this work is to provide a comprehensive, clear and reliable legal advertising form book, for lawyers, administrators, assignees, receivers, trustees, and state, county, and city officials.

Forms for all the more important legal advertisements which are in daily use and required to be written with precision are herein given.

In this work the busy lawyer will find legal advertisements which can be depended upon to fit any given case. Public officials will find this work one to be relied upon at all times.

In the preparation of this work I have carefully examined and followed the approved forms of legal advertisements in actual use in the various courts, and have aimed to make it, in all respects, an accurate, reliable and safe guide in the matter of writing legal advertisements.

While any ordinary and precise language will be sufficient to express in a legal advertisement what is required to be expressed by the law, the following pages of legal advertising forms have been prepared with the view of expressing all that the law requires in a clear and concise manner, thereby saving much money for the clients which has heretofore been expended unnecessarily by giving entirely too elaborate a notice, and the saving of time necessary to a new investigation upon the writing of every legal advertisement. And it is with the view of saving money, time and labor to attorneys and officials, that this work is undertaken, and with the hope that the design of the author has been accomplished.

The author has endeavored to present the subject in a simple, concise and perspicuous manner, and every effort has been made to make it reliable, practical and convenient.

In the arrangement of the index, each advertisement can be found under at least three heads, which makes it easy to find the required advertisement.

In presenting this work the author does so with the hope that it will be found useful to lawyers and officials

RATES FOR LEGAL ADVERTISING.

Publishers of newspapers may charge and receive for the publication of advertisements, notices and proclamations the price or rate for which is not otherwise fixed by law, required to be published by any public officer of the State, or of a county, city, village, hamlet, township, school, benevolent or other public institution, or by a trustee, assignee, executor, or administrator, the following sums, to wit: For the first insertion, one dollar for each square, and for each additional insertion, authorized by law or the person ordering the insertion, fifty cents for each square, fractional squares to be estimated at the same rate for space occupied; and in advertisements containing tabular or rule work, an additional sum of fifty per cent may be charged in addition to the foregoing rates.

A square shall be considered and held to be a space occupied by two hundred and forty ems of the type used in printing such advertisements; and all legal advertising shall be set up in compact form, without any unnecessary spaces, blanks or head lines, and shall be printed in type not smaller than nonpareil.

When an officer, in the due execution of his office, is required to write or set up an advertisement, he shall be allowed for every such advertisement twenty-five cents; and if the advertisement is required to be published in a newspaper, the officer shall be allowed twelve and one-half cents in addition to the price thereof, to be taxed in the bill of costs; but constables shall not be allowed more than twenty-five cents for advertising the sale of property taken in execution.

There shall be allowed to the publishers of newspapers,

3— for advertising the delinquent and forfeited lists of the 4— several counties, and the notice of sale, a sum not exceed-
5— ing the following rates: For notice of sale, ten dollars
6—
7— for designating the several school districts, townships,
8—
9— hamlets, villages and cities, and the several wards in any
10— city, fifty cents each; and for each tract of land, city or
11— town lot, or part of lot, contained in each of said lists
12—
13— thirty cents; provided, that in no case shall a greater sum
14—
15— than one-half of the taxes and penalties, due on any tract,
16— lot, or part of lot, be allowed for advertising such tract,
17—
18— lot or part of lot.
19—

20—
21— In all cases where any Cuntly Auditor, by inadvertence
22— or mistake, shall have omitted, or in any future year shall
23— omit, to publish the delinquent list of his county, accord-
24— ing to requirements of law, it shall be his duty, in case the 25— taxes and penalty with which the land and town lots there-
26— in stand charged, shall not have been paid, to charge the 27— said lands and town lots with the said taxes and penatly,
28— and also the taxes of the current year, and record, or cer-
29— tify, and publish the same as part of the delinquent list.

SQUARES DEFINED.

44— The accompanying rule is seven squares in length,
45— graduated by nonpareil point system.
46—

47— The majority of the newspapers of the country today
48— are using this measurement, and are making their columns
49— thirteen pica Ems in width, or twenty-six Ems of nonpar-
50— eil type in width. The law provides that type not smaller
51— than nonpareil must be used in legal advertisements.
52—

53— In measuring legal advertisements it is always best to 54— be guided by the number of lines contained in each ad-
55— vertisement. The line rule here given is of nonpareil type
56—
57—
58—
59—
60—
61—
62—
63—

measurement, and nine of such lines contain two hundred and thirty-four Ems, and this is as close as it is possible to figure out a square.

To find the number of squares in a given legal advertisement, measure the same by this rule, and if the advertisement is more than seven squares in length, count the number of lines in the same, and then divide the number of lines by the figure 9; and to find the number of Ems in the advertisement, just multiply the number of lines by the same figure 9.

If an advertisement contains sixty-three lines, you will find that by dividing the same by nine you will have seven squares.

In order to find out what the cost of this advertisement seven squares in length should be, as allowed by law, we will suppose that the same is a notice given to a non-resident defendant, and is required to be published for six consecutive weeks. Allow seven dollars for the first insertion, and three dollars and fifty cents for each of the succeeding five insertions, which will amount to seventeen dollars and fifty cents; then add the two items together and you will have twenty-four dollars and fifty cents. The newspaper publisher will have to make an affidavit to the effect that the advertisement was published in his newspaper for six consecutive weeks and for this affidavit add forty cents more; then you will find the total cost of the advertisement to be twenty-four dollars and ninety cents.

WHEN ACTION DEEMED COMMENCED.

An action shall be deemed commenced, within the meaning of the law, as to each defendant, at the date of the summons which is served on him, or on a co-defendant who is a joint contractor or otherwise united in interest with him. And when service by publication is proper, the action shall be deemed commenced at the date of the first publication, if the publication be regularly made.

RULE DAYS.

The answer or demurrer by the defendant shall be filed on or before the third Saturday, and the reply or demurrer by the plaintiff on or before the fifth Saturday, after the return day of the summons, or service by publication; and the answer or demurrer of a defendant to a cross-petition shall be filed on or before the third Saturday, and the reply or demurrer thereto on or before the fifth Saturday after the cross-petition is filed; but the court, or a Judge thereof in vacation, may, for good cause shown, extend the time for filing any pleading, upon such terms as are just.

GENERAL CIRCULATION.

By a newspaper of general circulation the Legislatures certainly do not intend a newspaper read by all the people of the county. As a matter of fact, every newspaper is in greater or less degree devoted to some special interest. No one, however, would claim that because a newspaper should, for example, be the organ of a certain political party, and especially devoted to the interests of such party, it would not therefore be a newspaper of general circulation. Yet, such a newspaper is, to a large extent, read only by the members of the political party whose doctrines are advocated and expounded in its columns.

A newspaper is a publication usually in sheet form intended for general circulation and published regularly at short intervals, containing intelligence of current events and news of general interest. But if a publication contains the general and current news of the day, it is none the less a newspaper because it is chiefly devoted to the dissemination of intelligence of a particular kind, or to the advocacy of particular principles or views. Most newspapers are devoted largely to special interests, political, religious, financial, social, etc., and each is naturally patronized mainly by those who are in accord with the views it advocates. But if it gives the general current news of the day, it still comes within the definition of a newspaper.

The term, "General Circulation," while not a misleading one, for we all understand perfectly well what it means, is exceedingly difficult of application. It is true of any term which has no exactly defined scope that it is not easy to say where it shall begin and where it shall end. It is not to be supposed a statute means that the advertisement must be published in a paper that is taken and read by every one in the community, or by nearly every one, or by one-half or three-fourths of the community. It means, doubtless, by "general," what we should understand by the phrase, "common, but not universal." It would be difficult indeed to find a paper that does not appeal more strongly to one class than another, and one that is not restricted in its circulation.

There are statutes providing for publications "in a newspaper printed and of general circulation in the county," and it is a well-known rule that the words of the statutes, "In pari materia," must be understood in the same sense as the statute in question, and vice versa. In view of this same rule, it is probable that all the statutes on the subject must be read to mean what the statutes of the most exacting phrasing indicates, viz.: a newspaper printed and of general circulation in the county, or if there be none printed in the county, then a newspaper in general circulaion in the county. Therefore, though a statute provides simply for publication, or for publication in a newspaper, we may assume that the publication of all legal notices must be in a newspaper, and the newspaper must be in general circulation in the county. It is not required that the newspaper have a general circulation in any particular city or part of the county.

A newspaper is defined, according to the usage of the commercial world, to be a publication in numbers consisting commonly of single sheets and published at short and stated intervals, conveying ntelligence of passing events.

WHAT IS SUFFICIENT PUBLICATION, AND HOW APPROVED?

It shall be sufficient to publish any notice or advertisement required by law to be given for a definite period, if one side of the newspaper in which such publication is made is printed in the county, municipal corporation, or State, in which the newspaper containing such notice or advertisement is required to be printed, and notices or proclamations required to be published in a newspaper by a trustee, assignee, executor, administrator, receiver, or any other officer of the court, or any party in any case or proceeding shall be approved by the court or clerk thereof and allowed as a part of the costs in the case or proceeding.

When a notice is directed by law to be published in a newspaper, and no such paper is published at the place mentioned, or if such paper is published at the place, but the publisher refuses to insert the same in his newspaper, on tender of his usual charge for a similar notice, then publication can be made in any newspaper of general circulation at such place.
